

Do you have what it takes?

Think you have what it takes to become a certified advisor of The AG Approach™? Take this quick self-assessment to find out. Please review each statement below and check the ones that are a reflection of your interests, skills, and experience. Be honest with yourself—there are no right or wrong answers—only your answers.

- 1. I have the experience and confidence to be a trusted advisor to CEOs and executive teams. This would typically include having 5-7 years experience as a business owner, senior level executive, or provider of professional services to CEOs and executive teams.
- 2. I am passionate about helping CEOs and executive teams improve the performance and results of their organizations.
- 3. I would like to receive premium fees for the services that I provide.
- 4. I would like to receive unsolicited referrals from my clients.
- 5. I see value in being able to offer a branded process in the market.
- 6. I see value in using a process to help CEOs and executive teams improve the performance of their organization.
- 7. I would like my business to fit my lifestyle.
- 8. I can weather up to 24 months financially to build my business to an ideal income.
- 9. I am active in continuous learning.
- 10. I have a high degree of self-discipline.
- 11. I produce results most effectively working autonomously in a loosely structured environment.
- 12. I am comfortable working with CEOs and executive teams who run middle market businesses. This would typically be businesses with 50 to 2,500 employees and $10 million to $500 million in annual revenues.
- 13. I am comfortable building and nurturing deep, multi-year client relationships.
- 14. I can admit when something is not a personal competency and refer clients to other appropriate resources.
- 15. I derive significant personal satisfaction from mentoring and developing executives.
- 16. My written and verbal communication skills are clear and creative.
- 17. I value my time and expect to get paid for it.
- 18. I can separate myself from tough or emotional issues and lead others through root cause analysis and problem solving.

How many statements did you check? If you checked at least 12 of these statements you may have what it takes to be a certified advisor of The AG Approach™.

For more information please contact Mr. Kevin Song at Aradiant Group Corp. at (407) 421.1871 or email kevin@aradiantgroup.com or send us your complete resume. For more information about our company please visit www.aradiantgroup.com